As we move into 2014, Philadelphia Interfaith Hospitality Network (PIHN), boasts a new name and an enhanced logo. Why the change? Our Board decided to take out the word “Northwest” as we have expanded to other neighborhoods in Northeast Philadelphia. We also added “an affiliate of Family Promise” emphasizing our strong connection with our parent organization.

At the heart of our work, we recognize the promise that each family holds to provide a safe and nurturing home for their children. We believe that the horrific cycle of homelessness can end, but it will take all of us working together to find longer term solutions to support the well-being of our neighbors.

Since our founding in 1991, Philadelphia Interfaith Hospitality Network has helped 325 Philadelphia families (910 individuals) achieve stability. In 2012, we expanded into Northeast Philadelphia, forging ahead to create safe, local emergency housing for families in need. Today, our combined networks in Northeast and Northwest Philadelphia engage 47 congregations and over 1,500 volunteers, including many alumni of our program. We have also expanded our services, focusing on continued support for alumni after their stay with us. This additional support helps families living on the edge financially to remain in their homes by offering services designed to stretch tight budgets and increase self-sufficiency. Today, PIHN is much more than the emergency housing program we were when we opened our doors 23 years ago. We take pride in the creative and holistic programs we have developed.

We have intentionally kept the program personal and focused on quality – nurturing the success of every individual family member. Our style is faith-inspired, pragmatic, and “up close and personal,” bringing volunteers and families together to learn from one another. Although many of our families have experienced profound trauma, the warmth and connection provided by volunteers and staff help families envision success. These personal connections, combined with valued services and material supports, are probably the reasons over 70% of the families we have housed continue to stay in touch, and over 90%, despite great odds, never return to the shelter system.

None of the work that Philadelphia Interfaith Hospitality Network does could happen without the support of a caring community of individuals and partner organizations who provide financial resources, volunteer time and material donations. During 2013, we struggled with the bankruptcy of our landlord/partner organization and the expense of recreating all formerly shared business systems. It is the generosity of community kept our doors open and our programs growing! We now look back and realize how we, like the families we serve, were literally one check away from losing our base of operation. We can attest that the individuals, businesses, foundations and organizations mentioned in this report is the reason that the Philadelphia Interfaith Hospitality Network’s doors remain open. It is truly a collective effort, demonstrating the care for our neighbors with each act of kindness.

With gratitude to our wonderful community!

EMERGENCY SERVICES: HELP FOR FAMILIES IN CRISIS

PIHN volunteers logged 15,126 volunteer hours working with our families. What this means is that volunteers cooked, hosted and shared meals, and stayed overnight at host congregations to make our guests feel welcome.

Staff provided material supports for 133 families and emergency housing counseling for 275 households.

PIHN provided year-round shelter for 23 families, (31 adults and 39 children; 7,055 bed nights).

Volunteers helped coordinate these services. By bringing volunteers and guests together, friendships are built. An informal mentoring relationship is established.

22,000 meals were provided for families in shelter, including healthy breakfasts and after-school snacks.

187 children and youth received clothing: diapers, infant and toddler clothes, back-to-school clothing, school uniforms and athletic activity wear, winter coats, mittens and other essential personal items.

$12,993.18 in SEPTA fares were provided to parents to ensure they and their children reached work and school safely.

Increased material contributions such as furniture required us to transport donated items directly to families or to temporary storage.

137 children received back-to-school packages, including book bags filled with school supplies, courtesy of Cradles to Crayons and United Way and generous congregation donors.

“The shelter that’s more like a home.” What this means is that families can stay together while in transition, without the interruptions found in larger shelter programs. Rotating within the PIHN network of churches and synagogues, our guests enjoy private rooms, home-prepared meals and hospitality provided by volunteers. It’s amazing how many hours and how many moving parts it takes to make our program work!

“It wasn’t that long ago when I felt so stuck with nowhere to go. The stress and anxiety was almost too much to bear. There is so much light now at the other end of my tunnel. I am truly grateful! The peace I have because my girls are safe and secure and in a peaceful environment is immeasurable! It is reaffirming that people do care about other people!”

- Angela, PIHN alumni
PIHN guests come to the program with minimal support from family and friends. Many are in debt. A great number of our families have experienced abuse or trauma as children, spouses and/or adult partners. Having faced numerous challenges, it is often difficult to envision success. An effective response to family homelessness must address issues of personal and financial development.

Therapeutic Services

PIHN staff provided 676 hours of therapeutic counseling services and 250 art therapy sessions and support groups for families. We are also piloting a parent’s yoga group to teach relaxation and mindfulness.

PIHN conducted 36 parenting education sessions and family playgroups. These sessions helped parents identify and address a wide range of special needs through early intervention, developmental and speech evaluations, and creation of individualized education plans (IEPs).

Financial Literacy, Employability & Career Development

All families in our program are expected to meet their savings goals as established with their social worker. All parents complete a credit check and take steps to resolve issues that might impact future housing eligibility. PIHN also provided:

- Regular budget coaching for 26 families
- Intermittent budgeting assistance for 24 families
- Job search assistance for 29 parents and teens through NPIHN’s employment counselor and a new partnership begun in 2012 with People’s Emergency Center (PEC)
- Educational assistance for 21 individuals
- Financial Literacy workshops for 13 families
- Smart Money Club for 10 families

In the year ahead, we welcome a new partnership with MyBudgetCoach.org, a web-based program provided by Solutions for Progress matching volunteer budget coaches with families. Each session covers budgeting techniques, financial management and goal attainment strategies. The online tools associated with the program allow families to track expenses in real-time, keep track of their budget,

“It doesn’t seem long ago when I was a product of “the system.” I had been in several shelters that left me feeling lost with no alternatives. I was treated as a number rather than a person in distress. It was rock bottom for me. After entering PIHN, I felt security and stability living there. They provided regular self improvement meetings (budgeting, parenting, groups, etc.). I enjoyed them because they gave me an opportunity to grow in areas where I thought I had it all together.” - Ginger, PIHN Alumni
PIHN is committed to the belief that education and career training are the way out of multi-generational poverty. 56% of all those served by PIHN in 2013 were young and/or school-aged children from birth—18 years of age.

PIHN projects open opportunities for children and teens to explore a wide variety of recreational, extracurricular activities, summer internships and career-related experiences.

Special programs and trips were organized to support and strengthen the family unit. Six pre-teen girls participated in the new “It’s a Girl Thing” workshop in partnership with the Asia Adams Save Our Children Foundation. They covered topics related to self esteem, empowerment and body image. 10 all-expense-paid family outings were offered for 65 people to venues such as the Camden Sharks baseball games and the Please Touch Museum.

Material Support

153 children and youth received clothing through Cradles to Crayons
130 book bags given out at start of the school year
107 school uniforms distributed at start of school year
Abreana is off to college with a Wolf Foundation scholarship thanks to a partnership now sponsoring 6 PIHN alumni teens.

We believe that every child deserves a healthy start. Every young child in our program now receives an assessment from the early intervention program of Philadelphia Healthcare Management Corporation (PHMC). Through partnerships with groups like Please Touch Museum, ArtReach, Schuylkill Center for Environmental Education, Cradles to Crayons, Greater Philadelphia Diaper Bank and more, we make sure that children have their material needs met and grow to be healthy, curious and productive.

Last July, Pet Smart donated an aquarium and five fish for us to take care of. We’re happy to say they’re all still alive!

“Living in an emergency housing program with my mom taught me where and how I didn’t want to be in life. Even so it was a blessing. That made me see where I want to get to.”

-Mason, 19, PIHN alumni
(Now on the Dean’s List at Indiana University of PA)

Our new PIHN garden flourishes while our kids enjoy getting their hands dirty and learning about nature.

“When I told my son I was sorry that it would be a little longer before I could provide a home for him, he said ‘Don’t worry, Mom. I’m actually getting a lot of good support and connections to things we never would’ve known about.’”

- Evelyn, PIHN alumni
TRANSFORMATIONAL HOUSING AND HOUSING RELOCATION

PIHN currently subsidizes three market-rate housing opportunities in the Northwest Philadelphia area for employed alumni. We are looking to partner with landlords in the Northeast as well. Depending on their situation, the families are expected to cover the full cost of their housing. We also own and manage one additional property. Our goal is to help families stay in safe, decent housing in mixed-income neighborhoods close to their supports.

By the end of 2013, volunteers housed 23 families in congregational shelter. Of the 23:

- 3 families moved from PIHN to permanent housing
- 13 moved to transitional housing (1 moved into PIHN’s transformational housing program)
- 7 remained in emergency housing

By the time of our annual report publication, 21 of the 23 families were housed!

Each family moved into a fully furnished household, most with furniture, bedding, linens and kitchen equipment lovingly delivered by PIHN volunteers.

ALUMNI: FAMILIES ON THE MOVE

Of 110 families served in 2013, all utilized at least one PIHN service. On any day at least five alumni stop by or call to say hello or utilize a service.

At the end of the year, an alumni group, “Families on the Move”, was formed. A support system for all alumni, Families on the Move has launched various fundraising methods to give back to PIHN. A weekly thrift store called the Eye of the Doll thrift store headed by alumni Dolly Lewis has helped the alumni group raise close to $1,000 so far.
Now 20 congregations strong, our Northeast Network is coming into its own. Our Northeast Advisory Committee has worked tirelessly to develop congregational partners as well as fundraise and build awareness for programs supporting families experiencing homeless in Northeast Philadelphia. Need is great and PIHN is the only emergency housing program serving working families from the community. Their organizing efforts during 2013 culminated in a fun and delicious Empty Plate Dinner that was held early in 2014. Over 30 businesses donated to the event which drew 300 community members who were excited about our work. The event raised over $7,000 and will likely be PIHN’s signature event in Northeast Philadelphia for years to come. All contributors to the 2014 Empty Plate Dinner will be listed in the 2014 annual report.

Hosted on November 20, 2013 in partnership with The Lutheran Theological Seminary of Philadelphia, the Empty Bowl Dinner remains PIHN’s largest fundraiser. Every year, this event exceeds expectations, growing in magnitude every year. Raising over $27,000, volunteer and community support helped make this our most successful Empty Bowl Dinner to date.

Pablo Batista’s Mambo Jazz Express performs

Our newest event, \textit{Jazz it Up!} combines fabulous live entertainment, delicious food and the congenial company of music lovers who care about their community and their neighbors. We were graced by the presence and generosity of performers who donated their time and talents including drummer Pablo Batista, saxophonist Tony Williams and classic klezmer act The Fabulous Spielkehs. Sponsors for \textit{Jazz it Up!} have included: PNC Bank, Pepsi, WRTI-FM, Health Partners, Elfant Wissahickon, The Goldenberg Group, Domenick & Associates, Cabot Creamery Corporation and Thrivent Financial for Lutherans. Raising a combined total of $28,000 since its creation in 2013, \textit{Jazz it Up!} embodies the spirit of the Northwest Philadelphia community in which collaboration strikes a chord in the hearts of everyone.
